BAD HABIT CANCERS

this course is designed to give primary care and oncology physicians a current review of cancers resulting from unhealthy lifestyle choices. nurse practitioners, pa's and other healthcare professionals are encouraged to attend.

- To discuss the epidemiology and risk factors of head & neck cancers, lung cancer, skin cancer and gynecologic cancers.
- To present recent advances in prevention and treatment of these malignancies.
- To review the association of sentinel lifestyle factors (e.g., dietary constituents, energy intake, and physical activity) with the incidence and prevalence of these bad habit cancers.
- To outline lifestyle choices, complementary and alternative medicine approaches, supported by evidence based medicine as potential adjuncts to patient care plans.

DINNER & THE AQUARIUM : Enjoy a private viewing of the Tennessee Aquarium and a dinner catered by 212 Market Restaurant Thursday, April 20, with your family. Seats are limited for this complimentary event; details will accompany your paid symposium registration confirmation.
